

Figure 4.1 Cause-and-Effect Frame

Introduction Sentence	_____ caused _____. (This sentence should tell the major event and also broadly tell the effect of this event.)
Body	Describe several events that happened as a result of the one major event. Include some detail. Use transition words such as: First, next, then, finally, First, next, after that, in the end, In the beginning, then, after that, finally,
Conclusion	Describe your thinking about the book. This could be a prediction about what will happen next, an inference about the theme, or a judgment. Use concluding words such as: In conclusion, All in all, As you can see, It is true, I am thinking, I predict,

Adapted from Step Up to Writing (Auman, 2010)