

Stanley's Song

"If only, if only," the woodpecker sighs,
"The bark on the tree was a little bit softer."
While the wolf waits below, hungry and lonely,
He cries to the moo-oo-oon,
"If only, if only."

When "Stanley's Song" said:

"If only, if only," the woodpecker sighs,
"The bark on the tree was a little bit softer,"

I was thinking ...

When "Stanley's Song" said:

While the wolf waits below, hungry and lonely,
He cries to the moo-oo-oon,
"If only, if only,"

I was thinking ...

I think the author's message is...

I agree/disagree with the author because...

Zero's Song

If only, if only, the moon speaks no reply;
Reflecting the sun and all that's gone by.
Be strong my weary wolf, turn around boldly.
Fly high, my baby bird,
My angel, my only.

When "Zero's Song" said:

If only, if only, the moon speaks no reply;
Reflecting the sun and all that's gone by,

I was thinking...

When "Zero's Song" said:

Be strong my weary wolf, turn around boldly.

Fly high, my baby bird,

My angel, my only,

I was thinking...

I think the author's message is...

I agree/disagree with the author because...